

ROMAN·THANET·REVEALED

A community curated exhibition will open in Gallery 4 at the Powell Cotton Museum at Quex Park in time for the school summer holidays.

Volunteers have created an exhibition exploring the influence of the Romans in and around Thanet. Working in partnership, with the museum and the Trust for Thanet Archaeology, the members of the Isle of Thanet Archaeological Society have used finds from local sites to tell the story of the impact of Rome's colonisation of Britain on the area.
